Judge Lindsay,

We have the utmost respect for your position and none of the sarcasm in this letter is directed toward you. We've been told you have been ruling against Quilling's squandering of our money and we pray that you continue to do so. Quilling is the fox guarding the hen house and when he's done the investors will be lucky to get a feather. To most investors an extra $2000.00 a month would have made a huge difference the their lives and the lives of their families. To Quilling it's just lunch money. Stan Leitner, who apparently was also a victim, is willing to refund the investors funds without taking a huge cut of the recovered money. Mr. Leitner says he wants to clear his name and is willing to spend his own money to do it. Either the investors or Leitner will suffer a huge loss if Quilling is allowed to continue stealing what the original thieves have left of our money. We're retired and can never earn this money back so we need you to protect it for us, Judge. It's really a helpless feeling to see your money stolen, not once, but twice. Please don't let the second time be with the blessing of the court.

If we were Quilling, we would fly down to Dallas, stay in a fancy hotel, dine extravagantly and then personally hand you this letter. But since we're spending our own money and still have some common sense, we'll just put it in the mail.

Please help us get out money back. We really need it.

Thank you .
